SAYS COUGHLIN BABY WAS KILLED

"The Crank" Makes Confession in Kidnaping Case—Search For Body

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 11.—August Pasquayle, "the crank' has confessed to Major Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of the Pennsylvania state police, that he stole Blakely Coughlin from his home in Norristown, Pa., and smothered the child under his coat. He declared he buttoned the coat around the baby when he heard a noise as he was descending the ladder and that when he had gone some distance from the house he found the baby was dead.

Major Adams said today Pasquale had sent for him yesterday and that while he was talking to him in the Montgomery county jail the prisoner confessed to him the kidnapping and the smothering of the child.

"Pasquale told me in just so many words that he had gone into the room where the baby was sleeping, put the child under his coat and while he was getting down, heard a noise, whereupon he buttoned his coat close about the baby," said the major. "He says he ran away as soon as he reached the ground and when he opened his coat some distance away from the Coughlin home he found the baby had been smothered to death."

Major Adams said that while Pasquale had told him what he had done with the body, he would not make that public until the locality could be searched. The head of the state police declined to make any further statement in connection with the affair. It became known, however, that Captain Samuel Gearhart had been sent to the vicinity of Egg Harbor, N. J.

BOLSHEVISM IS BOUND TO FAIL, CLAIMS PASTOR

OBERLIN, Oct. 11.—"Bolshevism is primarily a protest against wrong social conditions," said Rev. Nicholas Van der Pyl of the United Church here Sunday night to his congregation when discussing "The Rise of Bolshevism."

The address was the second of his series of "Some Current Reforms and Movements and their Social and Religious Implications," of which the first, "The Enfranchisement of Women," was delivered last week.

"I do not defend Bolshevism," said Rev. Vander Pyl, "but to define and understand is not to defend. Bolshevism is primarily a protest against existing social conditions and only secondly an economic philosophy.

"Bolshevism is a plant which cannot succeed if the soil is not right for it. When the soil is right however, it is inevitable as daybreak.

"Employers and labor unions have fostered the rise of Bolshevism—the first by not understanding the needs of their workers, and the second by excluding from their membership all those who do not speak English.

"Conditions in Russia in 1917 were extremely propitious for an outbreak of Bolshevism. 93 per cent of all the Russian people were existing solely to provide the remaining 7 percent with luxuries and necessaries. It was an absolute despotism tempered some by assassination, which was the only weapon the peasants possessed. Secret police had no mercy with the lower class and also helped to make the general condition worse.

"Thousands of Russian peasants, at the invitation of the Tsar, their 'Little Father,' marched towards the imperial palace early in 1917 and were purposely, with premeditation, shot down in cold blood by the Cossacks of the Tsar. Revolt had to come. The Russians, however, wanted not necessarily Bolshevism, but a change of rulers. Their revolution corresponded to that of the Chartists in England in 1837.

"Bolshevism will continue as long as labor grievances are not alleviated. In fact, it is a laudable program, for some people, for their own betterment. But it is a rule of force, not of justice; and its rulers, who depend on clubs and arms for the enforcement of their methods, do not see the right way to reform the world's troubles. Lenine, the greatest of the Bolshevists, has admitted that he is not satisfied with the working of his program.

"Bolshevism is destined to fall, because it is wrongly antireligious, anti-moral and ant-practical, but its sediments will affect the whole fabric of society. And whether we are in the League of Nations or out of it, we cannot help but feel the influence of others in the world and their methods to reform their conditions."

SUPREME COURT WON'T REOPEN DRY DECISION

Petition Asking Reconsideration of Prohibition and Enforcement Acts Is Refused

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The Supreme Court refused today to reconsider its decision of last June 7, sustaining validity of the prohibiton amendment and portions of the enforcement act.

The rehearing had been asked in petitions filed by Christian Feigenspan, a brewer, of Newark, N. J., and George C. Dempsey, a wholesale liquor dealer of Boston, Mass.

Rehearing of the Feigenspan case was sought on the ground that the court failed to state the reason for its conclusion in holding the amendment valid that inadequate time had been allowed for the presentation of the case and that the courts construction of the section of the amendment relating to recurrent power made congress' authority practically paramount and nullified the effect intended by the senate and house.

The Dempsey petition was based on the claim that neither the amendment nor the enforcement act was intended to prohibit the manufacture or sale of beverage containing small quantities of alcohol where such beverages were not in fact intoxicating.

Railroads Protest Delay

Hostilities will cease six days after the signature of the convention. The armistice will run for 21 days and 48 hours' notice will be necessary before either side can legally break it. DAVIES TRIAL IS POSTPONED

Through a misunderstanding Attorney Boyd came to this city this morning to defend Walter Davies in his trial for perjury. An agreement had been made between Prosecuting Attorney Findley and F. M. Stevens, representing Davies, that out of courtesy to Walter D. Meals, who is assisting Mr. Findley, that the case should not be tried until Wednesday on account of a death in the family of Mr. Meals' partner. This arrangement was unknown to Mr. Boyd, and this morning both himself and Mr Stevens wanted the case tried at once. Mr. Findley promptly agreed but Judge John B. Worley of Cadiz, who is to try the case, had not arrived, on account of the previous arrangement. He was talked to over the phone and agreed to be here tomorrow morning and the case will be started then.

Mr. Boyd stated that if it was not completed this week, he could not be present until after election day. Mr. Findley declares that the case will be pushed to completion as fast as possible, believing that there has been too much delay thus far.

CONGRESSMAN DAVEY SUPPORTED IN TWO SPEECHES SATURDAY

Supporters of Congressman M. L. Davey in his campaign for re-election over his republican opponent C. L. Knight opened the final drive of the camaign in Lorain county Saturday night when well known republican speakers talked in behalf of the Congressman, at two meetings in the public square. Jack Moore, former secretary of the Young Men's republican club of Summit County and D. C. Stephenson, another republican of Akron, both opposed to C. L. Knight, editor of the Akron Beacon Journal the republican candidate for congress, denounced the war record and the Un-American attitude the republican candidate during the war.

In his talks before the meetings held in Elyria Saturday evening Moore said: "Love of republican principles and the things for which it stands prompts me to appear before you tonight in loyalty to that party and denounce candidacy of C. L. Knight for congress, when he was nominated I resigned as secretary of the Young Men's Republican Club of Summit County." Moore told his listeners. "To my mind this man C. L. Knight is mentally, morally and physically incapable of representing this great 14th. Congressional district of this great United States of America. I have so little confidence in him that I would rather trust the principles of the republican party in the hands of that honorable democrat, M. L. Davey than in the hands of C. L. Knight, a man so unworthy and so unfit to represent such a great party," he declared.

"I expect to vote a straight republican ticket with one exception and that exception is C. L. Knight. Congressman M. L. Davey is s

Highwayman Holds Up Fred Tite And Also Takes Auto

$700 Diamond Ring Slipped Off Finger and Placed Behind Auto Seat But Burglar Completes Job By Appropriating Machine---Crime Wave Hits City

One of the boldest holdups and robberies yet to be reported in this city took place at 12:30 Sunday night, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tite, of Lodi street and Kaiser Court being the victims.

They had spent the evening with friends and on arrival home Mr. Tite drove his Cadillac car to the garage in the rear of the home. While he was still in the car a young man stepped out of the darkness and pointing a revolver at Mr. Tite, commanded him to give up his watch and money. Mr. Tite thought of a $700 diamond ring on his finger and succeeded in slipping it off onto the seat of the car. The man then took $36 and a gold watch from him. Turning his attention to Mrs. Tite he commanded her to take off her two diamond rings. She refused, and her husband said, "Let him have them." The man stepped towards her, and she warned him that if he touched her she would smash his face. He then let her alone. He compelled Mr. Tite to leave the car, and then drove it away, making his escape.

The police were at once notified and they in turn telephoned surrounding towns, giving a description of the car and the robber. This morning a telephone message from the Lakewood police stated that they thought they had the car. Another message came from Cleveland police that they had arrested two young men, on suspicion. Mr. and Mrs. Tite both went to Cleveland, to try and identify one of the men. They describe the holdup man as being about 21 years of age and Mrs. Tite is positive she can identify him.

Ridgevilleites Held Up

A Ridgeville resident reported this morning that two holdup men have been operating in that vicinity late at night, but as yet have secured but little loot.

Recently Jake Smith was held up by two men who drove up in an automobile. They secured but a few pennies. On another evening Jake Faulkner and Matt Horwedel were held up. Horwedel escaped in the darkness and Faulkner had but fifteen cents that the men did not take. One other man was intercepted while on the way to market, but he refused to stop his auto truck when ordered and nearly ran the two men down as they stood in the road. Automobilists are warned of these occurrences, so as to be on the lookout while passing through that section.

Pedestrian Sandbagged

Frank Boteman reported to the police that he was held up on Lodi street near Cascade park Saturday night by two young men, one of whom hit him on the head with a club.

They took $13 and a watch from him and then ran away. He was able to give but a meager description of them.

Pocketbook Disappears

Mrs. S. Entwer, of West River street, lost her pocketbook last evening containing $70. She stopped in a candy store at the corner of Broad street and West avenue, and bought some candy. She left the store and when she reached the N. Y. C. railroad tracks missed her purse. She retraced her steps but was unable to find it, and does not know whether she left it in the store or lost it on the street.

DAUGHTER OF CENSUS CHIEF TAKES POISON

Miss Esther Rogers Dies at Philadelphia Hospital Today After Drinking Poison

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11—Miss Esther Rogers, a daughter of Samuel L. Rogers, director of the United States census bureau at Washington, died in the Garrettson hospital here early today under circumstances that indicated she had ended her life with poison according to the police.

Miss Rogers, who was 25 years old, was found in her boarding house, 1740 Green street, late last night, suffering from the effects of poison. She was rushed to the hospital and died without regaining consciousness. It was not until today that it became known she was the daughter of the director of the census.

Mr. Rogers was notified by telephone and announced he would leave Washington on the first train. He said his daughter had not been in the best of health and had been subject to spells of extreme nervousnss. He knew no reason, he said, for her to end her life. Recently she had been in Atlantic City for her health, he said.

Miss Rogers, according to other persons living in the boarding house, had ben out last evening for a walk and returning locked herself in her room. An hour afterwards boarders head moans and beaking into her room found her suffering intensely. She became unconscious and was immediately sent to the hospital.

Miss Rogers came to the boarding house about three weeks ago. She was employed in this city as a stenographer.

THE FUTILITY OF FORCE

We recently heard two speakers discuss Bolshevism from different angles, and were most interested to note that from the two angles they came to identically the same solution of the problem.

One spoke on the subject of "Bolshevism, the Menace of The World," and preached it as a religious enthusiast, a native of Russia, not a learned man, but an earnest, honest one. He had met Trotzky, had discussed the principles of Bolshevism with him, and looking upon it as a serious menace to religion, the home and the state, he said "Force and an army will never solve the question, because it is the spirit, it is because the men of Russia believe in it, and that can only be corrected by education and teaching; force will never do it."

The other speaker, while preaching the question fro ma religious angle did it by a very careful and unbiased examination. His subject was, "The Rise of Bolshevism." He also recognized its futility, as an economic philosophy, its tendency against faith and religion, but also reached the same conclusion that the other speaker did, that there is nothing gained by force, in fact he declared that he believed Bolshevism would long ere this have run its course and the Russian people themselves would be greatly modified, if not entirely changed it, had it not been the forced unity of Russia caused by outside attack. He said that whatever elements of wrong there were, which justified the unrest, which enabled Bolshevism to find a fruitful soil, should be corrected, but the spirit of Jesus Christ finally was its only solution. Education, hand in hand with religion to remove fear and to enable the people to take their position for justice and virtue.

We cannot emphasize too often the fact that there is no real problem ever solved by force. The animus of wrong-doing lies in the mind and heart. By fear you may prevent an individual temporarily from committing an act which you claim to be wrong, but as soon as that fear is removed, the wrong will be committed. It is only changing the mind of the individual which really solves the problem. This cannot be done with a club. It must be done with reason and with love.

THE PRESIDENT'S DISREGARD FOR LAW

On June fifth last, The Jones Merchant Marine Act took effect. This act directed President Wilson to notify all foreign governments within sixty days that this country elected to terminate all treaties restricting the right of this government to impose discriminatory dues upon imports and discriminatory tonnage dues.

Through Secretary Colby, the President declares that he will not carry out this provision of the law, will not obey the mandate of Congress. His excuse forsooth he declares that Congress had no constitutional right to direct him to the performance of this act.

It should be remembered that President Wilson signed this act with this clause of course a part of it, and now assumes the prerogatives of the Supreme Court, as well as the Chief Executive, in casting it aside.

Why should we complain of the man of direct action, why should we complain of the anarchist, and not complain of our President, under such circumstances? He makes a bill and signs it by his own hand, and then declares he will not abide by it.

President Wilson sights, as a precedent President Hayes vetoing a bill ordering him to negotiate certain agreements with China. But it should be noted President Hayes vetoed it. He did not sign it, and thereby make it a law, and then refuse to abide by it.

We predict that the minute Congress assembles, there will be action taken on this point that will be very meaningful.

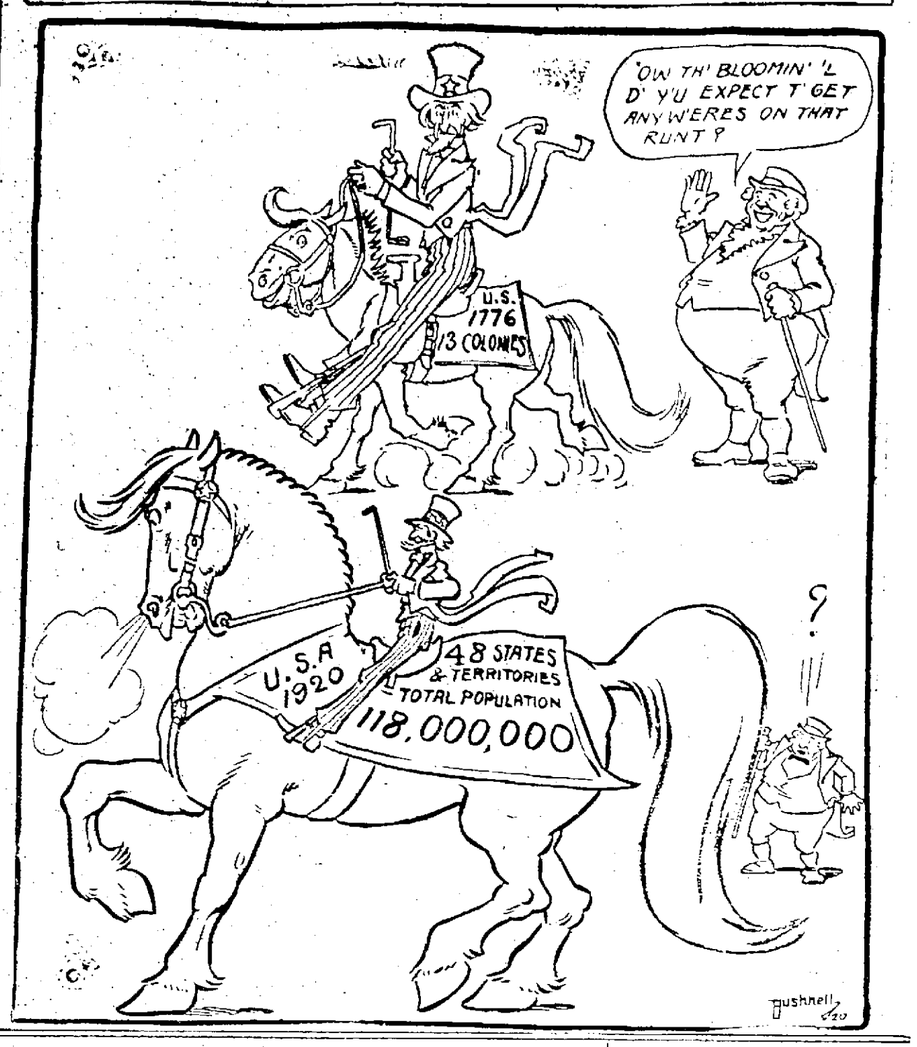

HOW THE GAS COMPANY ACCOMMODATES

We understand that the ministers of Elyria have been being shut off at 12 o'clock on Sunday. They thought rightly, that it would disturb, or to some extent interfere with the church service.

They waited upon the Gas Company to ask them if this could not be changed. "Why sure," said the Gas Company, in reply, "We will change it." "We will shut the gas off at 8 o'clock Sunday morning and keep it off until 5."

You cannot say that the Gas Company is not accommodating.

Composed a wee verse called "The Chickens."

But alas! and alack!
Her poem came back.

THE FUNNY-HAT SEASON IS WITH US.

The things that men wear on their heads between the straw-hat season and the winter-hat season passeth all understanding. No man in the world goes and buys a new winter hat as soon as he throws the straw away. He postpones the evil moment and rummages around in the attic and digs up some old frying-pan that he threw away the preceding spring.

Consequently the mob assumes a queer aspect to a man in an airplane between hat seasons. Looking down, the aviator may well believe the world has gone balmy, for men wear things on their heads that are beyond belief. From the old iron Kelly that slides down over the face and conceals most of the important features, to the antiquated golf-cap which hangs dejectedly over one ear and gives on the appearance of a stick-up man, nothing is impossible.

A man may wear a fur cap in late September and nobody takes a second look. He may go to business in a sou'wester, a yarn cap or an old football helmet and everybody thinks it is the natural thing to do. Even a red velvet smoking cap with a tassle on it is not sufficient to cause a man's arrest.

But if there is an old fedora around the house that the wife has used to lift the pots and kettles or to polish the stove with, or one that the hens have been laying in all summer, that is what the average citizen loves best to wear between seasons.

If he can have this hat blow off and induce some horse to step on it, he is happier than ever.

Men like old hats best, and there are two reasons for this. One reason is that he likes to set an example in hat economy around home, and the other is that he would rather go to a dentist and have five teeth filled than to pick out one fall hat. He believes every hat he picks makes him look like an escaped guest of Matteawan trying to sell a perpetual motion machine. Generally he is right; but that is neither here nor there.

He wears the old hat until the brim drops off and the hair sticks through, which happens about the first of December. As all the other old hats give up the ghost at about the same time, the male population begins to assume a respectable aspect shortly before Christmas.

Don't judge any man by his hat before December 1, for it may not be his hat at all. It may be his little son's school hat or his deceased uncle's old velveteen.

"Well, it's like this," replied the cabby. "At night I tosses up to see if he shall have a feed of hay, or I shall have a pint of beer, and the old horse has just lost three night runnin'."

Will Irwin, in an address in Greenwich Village, on birth control, told a story of a chap named Higgins, who got home one night to learn that his wife had given birth to triplets—three healthy, bouncing boys.

Higgins, overjoyed, went to the boss's office next morning and recounted the rare and wonderful thing which had befallen him. The boss felicitated him heartily, and the next day Higgins was sent for.

He hurried to the office again, to find the entire firm assembled there. A handsome silver cup stood on the mantel, and this trophy, in an eloquent speech, the boss presented to him in recognition of the triple blessing which he had bestowed upon his country.

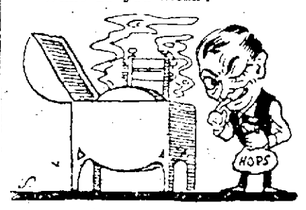

Higgins took the cup in his hand, bowed respectfully and said:

"Excuse me, sir, but is this cup mine now, or do I have to win it three years in succession?"

"Ooo!" exclaimed the darky, 'dat shore is high! I'd rather walk."

And off he started. He had not proceeded very far when the train came along, whistling as it neared the station.

"Yo' needn't wistle fo' me," muttered the darky as he trudged along. "I made yo' an offer onct an' yo' wouldn't take it. So yo' kin go on, train. I ain't a-comin' wif yo'."

For years a bitter feud had existed between the Browns and Robinsons, next-door neighbors. The trouble had originated through the depradations of Brown's cat, and had grown so fixed an affair that neither party ever dreamed of "making it up." One day, however, Brown sent his servant next door with a peace-making note for Mr. Robinson, which read:

"Mr. Brown sends his compliments to Mr. Robinson, and begs to say that his old cat died this morning."

Robinson's written reply was bitter:

"Mr. Robinson is sorry to hear of Mr. Brown's trouble, but he had not heard that Mrs. Brown was ill."

Listen, good friends, and you shall hear why some Cigarettes are so all-fired dear

SOME cigarettes are packed in pretty boxes that certainly don't grow on trees. Next, they're dolled up—and flavorings are sure getting expensive. And then, they're priced a bit high so they'll seem "exclusive." But read how Spur Cigarettes offer the highest possible quality at the lowest possible price:

If there are any finer tobaccos from the Orient and the good old U. S. A. than those selected for Spurs, they must be a secret that the world has never heard. And when we got these combined in Spur Cigarettes, what do you suppose was the result? Just the best taste and aroma that any cigarette could give, and Willie Doll-up or Freddie Flavoring hadn't a thing to do with it.

Spur is "class" all through—even to the smart "brown-and-silver" package, triple-wrapped, that keeps Spurs fresh and fragrant. Try out a package of Spurs. You'll say "made and priced for popularity."

Here are three of the newest models for sports and motoring wear. All three are smart and becoming as well as practical. A coat of fine wool duvetyn is shown at the left. It is a chamoisily tailored model, finished with large pockets with flaps. This may be worn at any hour of the day and is particularly good for wear over a suit.

The plaid homespun cape in the center will be welcomed by the woman who cannot stand two coats because of the tightness of the sleeves. It has graceful lines and provides an extra warmth that scarcely any wind could penetrate. It is also rain-proofed. There are roomy slits for the arms and a deep collar. This model is a utility cape which will last for years.

The sport cape at the left shows how pretty and dainty sport clothes can be made. It is fashioned of leather with a reversible lining of brushed wool. The wool forms a deep collar which reaches to the bottom of the cape. This makes a smart costume when worn with a small hat and over a short walking

"Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde"

Local movie fans have heard with much interest of the great impersonation which Sheldon Lewis, the famous tragedian, gives of the dual role of Dr. Jeckyll and Mr. Hyde.

Mr. Lewis will be remembered for his remarkable work in the Iron Claw and several other big productions, as well as for his work with Virginia Pearsons. But his older laurels fade into insignificance when compared to the triumph he has just scored in Pioneer's elaborate screen version of Robert Lewis Stevenson's morality masterpiece, Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

For many years Mr. Lewis has been a close student of the American and English drama, and his remarkable portrayal of Stevenson's remarkable drama came as no surprise to his friends and associates.

Mr. Lewis, in his impersonation, has been greatly influenced by the work of the late Richard Mansfield, who played the role for twenty years or more on the stage. Mansfield made the unhappy physician a spiritual figure throughout and Mr. Lewis has followed to that extent in the footsteps of Mansfield. But the Hyde of Mr. Lewis is far more literal and horrible than that of Mansfield; showing the moral and spiritual degradation to which a good man may fall when he denies of God and believes that mankind is no better than the lower animals.

AMERICAN

"Thou Art The Man"

Robert Warwick succeeds in making a thoroughly appealing figure of the hero in "Thou Art the Man," the highly dramatic photoplay in which he opened a three days' run at the American Theatre last evening.

The scene of the film is South Africa. Myles Calthrope, a young English soldier of fortune, is connected with Solomon and Brimmage, who are carrying on a business in stolen diamonds under the guise of ostrich raising. Suspecting them, Calthorpe leaves and in Cape Town meets and falls in love with Joan Farrant. She secures him a job with her brother. Marrant is also a diamond smuggler and uses Joan's attraction for Calthorpe to make the latter his innocent agent. Calthorpe is caught with the goods and imprisoned for three years, keeping silent rather than betray the girl.

Meantime, her mind has been poisoned against him. Seeing Calthorpe after his release, she denounces him as an ex-convict, but later the truth comes out, and she is glad to confess her re-born love for him. Lois Wilson plays the heroine's role with skill and grace. Clarence Burton, J. M. Dumont and C. H. Geldart are excellent in "heavy" parts. Margaret Turnbull adapted the story from a novel by F. E. Mills Young. It is a Paramount Artcraft picture and was directed by Thomas Heffron.

COLONIAL

"You Never Can Tell"

Local playgoers witnessed the first starring effort of one of the newest of film twinklers last night. The occasion was the premiere of the Colonial Theatre of "You Never Can Tell," the initial Bebe Daniels production for Realart.

It is needless to say that Miss Daniels scored a real hit. This was a foregone conclusion with those who have watched her rise through comedies with Harold Lloyd to leading woman roles in Paramount productions.

Starring, however, is a different matter and tests a player to the limit. Miss Daniels meets the test in a manner that thoroughly satisfied a large audience last night. She is delightfully amusing as the ambitious little check-room girl whose love for beautiful things leads her almost into trouble before she meets and loves a "Prince Charming" whom she thinks a taxi chauffeur but who really is a young millionaire. It is a clever and amusing story of the "good little bad girl" type in which Miss Daniels is to be presented by Realart.

ELYRIANS HELP GREENWICH WIN CHAMPIONSHIP

Eddie Tulk and Ralph Nichols were the conspicuous stars in the baseball tournament at Greenwich, Saturday. The Elyrians enabled Greenwich to win the championship.

Greenwich defeated Crestline 3 to 0 in the morning and trounced Shelby 5 to 2 in the afternoon.

Tulk's stick work in the morning game was the feature of the tournament. The heavy hitter Court House Rat player slammed out a single, double and triple in three times at bat.

Sharing honors with Tulk was Nichols who played the best fielding game ever seen in the vicinity of Greenwich. Nichols accepted fifteen chances, many seemingly impossible stops, without a slip His snappy fielding brought the large attendance repeatedly to their feet.

And it goes without saying that the envelopes received by Tulk and Nichols were the fattest handed any player in the tournament.

TRIPLE PLAY HOME RUNS, SET SERIES RECORD

FEATS OF WAMBY, SMITH AND BAGBY FURNISH THRILLERS AS CLEVELAND TAKES LEAD IN RACE

CLEVELAND, Oct. 11.—Baseball history was made in the fifth game of the world's series at League Park yesterday afternoon when Cleveland vanquished Brooklyn, 8 to 1.

Bill Wambsganss, Cleveland second baseker, made a triple play unassisted. It was the first time in the history of world's series that any kind of a triple play had been registered, to say nothing of one consummated by a player without the aid of his colleagues.

Elmer Smith, Cleveland right fielder hit for a home run with the bases filled, the first time that such a feat had been performed in a world's series contest.

James Bagby, Cleveland pitcher hit for a home run with two on, also a record for a pitcher in a conflict for the world's baseball honors.

SACK BARBERS PLAY GRAFTON THERE SUNDAY

Grafton is looking forward to an easy victory when the Elyria Sack Barbers journey to Grafton next Sunday But Grafton is due for a surprise, say members of the Elyria team.

The Barbers have been playing creditable games with teams out of their class and while most of the teams that the Barbers have met are heavier this disadvantage is offset by the speed of the Barber players.

Fremont Informed Oberlin Refuses to Play Both Fremont and Lorain—May be Thrown Out of the League

FREMONT, Oct. 11—Oberlin high, the latest entry in the North Ohio High School Athletic league, has refused to come to Fremont to play a scheduled game with Fremont high. League officials made out a schedule and assigned Oberlin the date of Oct 23 at Fremont Oberlin for some reason does not want to play in Fremont and has sent definite word the team will not come to Fremont. Oberlin, however, is willing for Fremont to play at Oberlin on that date. The local management, however, in the failure of Oberlin to advance reasons for such action, will not play at Oberlin and the game is on. It is said Oberlin does not wish to play Lorain high also. Such action will probably result in Oberlin being considered not a member of the league this year.

OBERLIN'S BIG GAME COMES SATURDAY

OBERLIN, Oct. 11—With the game against Mount Union next Saturday, Oberlin's football team starts its real drive for the state championship, which last year went to Oberlin after the most successful season in years.

Mount Union, coached by Eddie Casey, All-American halfback in 1919, Wooster, who tied Oberlin for the state title last year, Case, who held Michigan to 35 points Saturday, and Western Reserve, who always plays its best game against Oberlin, will be met on successive Saturdays and must all be defeated if the Crimson can retain the championship

Coach Nelson Metcalf here figures Wooster as the toughest of the quartet to beat Coach Boles has a powerful eleven on the field again and with two star players in Synder and Dunbar must be reckoned as a formidable rival. There is considerable feeling between the two schools, and the game, which is to be played at Wooster on October 24, is the homecoming attraction for Wooster's alumni

Metcalf's immediate attention will be given to Mount Union, the team that scored more points against Oberlin last year than any other eleven, including Cornell The Mounts have two players in McBride and Evans who will be watched closely by Oberlin's men, who do not underestimate the importance of the contest

One of the largest crowds of the season is expected to turn out to see he Mounts perform here, Saturday Nearly 2,000 watched the opening game against Heidelberg two weeks ago, and more than that number should be on hand to see the Crimson drive her second spike in the Ohio championship plank

Oberlin's players will be in fairly good shape by Saturday as they received comparatively little damage against Ohio State The State game was an agreeable surprise to local fans, who feated that the 128-0 fiasco of 1916 might be repeated

The Crimson's lineup against Mount Union will probably be Newsom and Loy, ends, Stallings and Metcalf, tackles, Lansdale and Withrow, guards, Barden, center, Wheeler, quarter; Capt McPhee and Taylor, halfbacks, Parkhill, fullback. Winters and Mayer will be ready to step into the backfield, while Will, Anderson, Emery, and Marshall can fill any holes in the line that occur.

OBERLIN LOSES TO OHIO STATE

Columbus Team Fails to Score In First Period but Opens Attack in Second Quarter and Wins Game 37 to 0

COLUMBUS, Oct 11—After fighting through a scoreless first period, in which they made only one first down, Ohio State's football team, toward the close of the half, opened up with an aerial attack, starting a rally that culminated in Oberlin's defeat here Saturday afternoon, 37 to 0.

Two pretty runs featured Ohio's victory. Toward the close of the second period, Stinchcomb, on the first play after Ohio State had scored a touhdown via forward pass, dodged around end and, eluding interference, ran ninety-seven yards for a touchdown

In the fourth quarter, Cott, who replaced Stinchcomb, darted through tackle and side-stepped down the sidelines for a thirty-five yard run and touchdown

Oberlin's defense frequently caused trouble and twice held the Buckeyes for downs, once on the former's owne nine yard line.

Workman's forward pass to Myers toward the middle of the second period started the Buckeyes' scoring The first pass was for thirty yards, placing the ball on Oberlin's fifteen yard line, Henderson going over for a touchdown on the next play Two other passes to Myers, one for forty yards, resulted in another score about a minute later.

TINY COLLEGE READY TO SURPRISE WORLD AGAIN

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

Centre college, that little institution at Danville, Ill., which startled the football universe by its overwhelming victories over larger colleges, appears to be set to duplicate its 1919 efforts this fall.

Centre college has a total enrollment of 200 students. The average football squad of the big eastern colleges at the opening of the grid training season has about 100 hopefuls. The Danville eleven opened its campaign last fall by defeating Hanover 97 to 0. Everybody but Hanover laughed. Then Centre tackled the powerful Indiana eleven—and trounced it 12 to 3. Not so much laughing. Then it licked St. Xavier 65 to 0, Transylvania 37 to 0 and Virginia U. 49 to 7. No laughing at all on the sidelines—except at the expense of the defeated cluds.

West Virginia University came next. That mountain school had licked Princeton 25 to 0 That didn't worry the Centre college boys. They walloped West Virginia 14 to 6

That same Princeton team had beaten Harvard and tied Yale. Harvard beat Brown. Brown beat Dartmouth. Darmouth beat Pennsylvania, Pennsylvania tied Pittsburg and Pittsburg beat W. and J. The last named team had beaten Syracuse. And Syracuse beat Colgate. These results are cited to show that Centre college, on comparative scores, could just about claim all the gravy in the season.

One of the big stars of Centre's team last year was "Bo" McMillin, who is playing quarterback and captaining the team this year. He is fast, a clever man in an open field and a hard man to elude when on the defensive.

"Red" Roberts, fullback, is another star. James "Red" Weaver, center of the Centres, and an oil-well driller in summer, is another great player on the team. Ralph Montgomery, tackle and a Fort Worth, Tex., boy, is another brilliant player.

Whether this year's aggregation, which has eleven letter men back this year, can equal its great record of 432 points scored to its opponents' eighteen remains to be seen. But the public is going to keep one eye on the roaring, plunging outfit from the Danville institution.

STEVE O'NEILL'S DAUGHTER MADELYN SAYS SHE'S MASCOT TO HER DADDY IN BIG SERIES

Little Madelyn O'Neill, oldest daughter of Steve O'Neill, Indian catcher whose hitting has been one of the big features of the world series, insists that she is the mascot who has brought him luck. She attended the games in Brooklyn. Steve, though, says his whole happy family acts as mascots for him all the time—including the twin girl-Mrs. O'Neil presented him with early in the year.

Oberlin Golf Club Will Hold Two Tournaments

OBERLIN, Oct. 11.—The Oberlin Golf Club held a handicap tournament Saturday, while on Oct. 22, the annual club championship will be held.

Three class prizes will be given in the championship tournament and there will be no handicaps. The classes are class A, match play, medal for low score, cup to winner. Class B, match play, golf balls to winner. Class C, novice, medal play, a golf club to the novice who shows the greatest improvement indicated by the scores of both tournaments.

A women's tournament for the club championship may be held later if enough of the fair sex show a desire to compete for the title.

Southpaw Battle Looms As Indian... Retain Lead In World's Ch... Series---Count Stands Three t... oring Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Oct. 11.—With the ... 3 and 2 in their favor in the battle for the ... pionship of the Universe, the Cleveland ... were prepared to face the Brooklyn Dodg... contest of the series confident of contin... torious record of the past two days so th... world's championship pennant would be ... game of their grasp.

The Dodgers, somewhat downcast ... cessive drubbings, were far from beaten ... ever. With Sherrod Smith, the brillia... who sent Cleveland back from Brooklyn on ... of the third series game scheduled to hur... turning point had been reached and tha... they would again be on even terms with ... league champions.

A Unique Battle

Manager ..., Speaker planned ... send his resourceful southpaw, Walter Mails, to the mound While Mails has had only a brief major league career, his work has been on a par with that of the veterans. Coming into the league in midsummer from the Pacific coast and after a failure as a big league pitcher in Brooklyn, the youngster won six straight games when Cleveland was on the verge of being shoved out of the pennant race ... Brooklyn in the third game of ... of the world series, after Ray Caldwell had been knocked out of the box in the first inning he went in and kept the Dodgers away from the plate until late in the game, when he was taken out for a pinch hitter Mails, however, has never started a super-series contest, while Smith is a veteran.

Back of the Cleveland team today was a city which had lost interest in everything but baseball and which no longer even gave Brooklyn a chance to win the series On the street corners, in the hotels, the restaurants, the theatres and everywhere the only subject discussed was baseball and to Cleveland "baseball" means Jim Dunn's Indians.

The Cleveland rooters have been on the edge of the championship crater for years and now that the big explosion has come, they have lost all sense of equilibrium and are pulling tugging, yearning and yelling for the world victory that is within their sight.

There was, however, somewhat of a cessation of the tenseness which characterized the city during the early days of the big tracas for the fans seemingly felt that they had scaled Mount Olympus and now had only to sit back and enjoy the fruits of their conquests The bombastic enthusiasm of Cleveland's desire to tell the world the greatness of its ball team had given place to an "I told you so" attitude, for the two victories of the home club on the home reservation had at least convinced Cleveland that Tris Speaker's tribe could step out and capture two more contests with ease, regardless of what the rest of the world might think about it.

Bleacher Line Short

The attitude of the club's backers was indicated in the shortness of the line at the bleacher gate last night and early this morning. Of twenty on guard at six o'clock last night, only four were there to see the game. The other sixteen were "speculators" holding their place in line for sale.

Harry McHugh of Cleveland, the first in the line voiced the sentiments of many when he explained that "it really wasn't worth waiting in line all night, because Cleveland had practically won the series."

By midnight, however, the line had approached the proportions of previous days.

Experience apparently had taught the waiters several lessons, for few were standing as they did Friday and Saturday nights. Those waiting for the bleacher gates to open had brought chairs, boxes, tables and other comforts and played cards, matched coins, and found other ways to pass the time. Before daylight candles were used to illuminate the impromptu card tables.

Yesterday's game still was the main topic under discussion today for few persons had ever seen a contest which produced so many thrilling situations and, what pleased the Clevelanders most, situations which were favorable throughout to the home team.

The bromidic expression 'history was made" is the only one which adequately describes the game, for it actually produced records for the annals of baseball and records which fans may live long before they will see equalled or broken. Wambsgans' triple play, Smith's homer with the bases full, and Bagby's homer after the slugging O'Neill had been purposely passed so Grimes could get to the pitcher, will live long in the baseball records. The first two never before had been duplicated in a world series.

LIFE OF RILEY

WHEN FLAMES SWEPT PIERS AT GALVESTON

One portion of the water front during the conflagration.

Fire which started in a sulphur loading plant on Pier 25 at Galveston harbor, destroyed the plant, seven thousand tons of sulphur, thousands of bales of cotton, scores of freight cars and portions of the docks. The Italian steamship "Etna," loaded with wheat, caught fire, but was saved. Fire tugs and the city departments fought the flames for hours.

LATE STOCK REPORTS

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Wall St., 10:30 a. m.—Despite the improved exhibit of clearing house banks at the close of business last Saturday stocks were again under pressure at the opening of today's session. Rails, oils, coppers and various specialties, including Ford shares were especially heavy. Texas and Pacific made a further decline of 1 1-2 points and Reading, Union Pacific, Atchison, Baltimore and Ohio and New Haven forfeited large fractions. Cuba cane sugar dropped almost two points. Royal Dutch 1 3-4 and most of the steels and equipments reacted. Atlantic gulf and Harvester were the only issues to rally appreciably over last week's final quotations.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Wall St., noon—Rails, oils, steels, coppers and sugars extended their declines during the morning. Texas and Pacific lost 3 points and Lake Erie and Western preferred 3 1-2 with minor recessions in New York Central, Pittsburgh and West Virginia and St. Paul preferred. Bethlehem and Republic steels lost 1 and 2 points respectively; Mexican petroleum 2 1-4; American sugar 2 and the motors and their specialties 1 to 2 points. The market rallied feebly on buying of investment rails but reacted again before noon when leathers were depressed. Strength of liberty issues featured the bond market. Call money opened at 7 1-2.

Wheat Advances

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.— Wheat prices today reflected the bullish influence of an organized movement of growers to force the market up to a minimum of $3 a bushel. Offerings were unusually light until values had scored a substantial upturn. Commission houses then took to the selling side and something of a reaction ensued. Opening prices, which ranged from one cent to 4 1-2c higher with December $2.00 to 2.03 and March $1.96 1-2 to 1.99 1-2, were followed by material further gains before the market began to sag.

Corn was firmer with wheat. After opening 3-8 to 1 3-8c higher, including December at 86 to 86 1-2 cents the market steadied at slightly under the initial figures.

Oats paralleled the action of other grain, starting 1-4 to 3-4c up, December 56 1-4 to 56 3-8c and then receding a little.

Lower quotations on hogs had a weakening effect on provisions.

13 Eggs A Day From 17 Young Pullets

"Early in November, I bought a package of Don Sung and started giving it to 17 May pullets. In the first 30 days they laid 185 lovely eggs. All through December I got 11 to 13 eggs a day."—Mrs. J. S. Niles, R. F. D. 2, Lucerne, Ind.

Mrs. Niles found how to start young pullets laying and keep them laying all winter. The same method helps hens through the moult, and starts them laying. You can test this at our risk.

Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, simply tell us and your money will be cheerfully refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) is a scientific tonic and conditioner. It is easily given in the feed, improves the hen's health and makes her stronger and more active. It tones up the egg-laying organs, and gets the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather.

You can obtain Don Sung from your druggist or poultry remedy dealer, or send $1.04 (includes war tax) for a package by mail. Burrell-Dwyer Co., 214 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

OBERLIN INTERCLASS GAME SCORELESS TIE

OBERLIN, Oct. 11.—The first interclass football game of the season here Friday afternoon on Dill field, ended in a 0-0 draw between the Freshmen and Sophomores.

The result came as a big surprise as the frosh were said to be by far the best of the class elevens. They were unable to show well on the offense, the sophomore ends nailing the yearling backs behind the line many times.

Loveland, left end for the freshmen, and Capt. Wood, fullback of the Soph team, were the stars of the game. Loveland was half the defense for the Freshmen, while Wood gained most of the ground for the sophs. Neither team had the ball within striking distance of the goal except when quarterback Hayde missed a dropkick from the 25 yards in the last quarter.

The seniors and juniors will play the second game of the interclass series Monday afternoon. The seniors are favored to win.

statesman, a fighter, a 100 per cent American. I urge every republican in this crowd who is loyal to his party to denounce this "would be republican candidate" and lend your utmost support to Congressman M. L. Davey," he said in closing his address.

In his talk D. C. Stephenson said, "It matters not to me whether you vote the republican ticket or the democratic ticket, it is your constitutional right as an American citizen and a solemn and sacred obligation that you go to the polls Nov. 2 and vote according to your convictions. That is what every American is charged with doing and the responsibility becomes thrice binding, when a man is seeking a place in congress upon a record which he is afraid to face and answer insofar as it involves his personal and public utterances during the war, and his complimentary attitude toward the country which murdered that angel of mercy, Edith Cavell; a country which sent the Lusatania to the bottom of the sea.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspironal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and affective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried. All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful new elixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is relieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspironal is by far the best and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children.

Wilson, Cox, Taft Discuss Merits of Article Ten In League of Nations Fight

"Can't Guarantee Peace"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The White House made public today what was described as an "official version" of President Wilson's address at the eight plenary session of the Paris peace conference. The exact wording of this address directed to the representatives of Roumania, Serbia and Czecho-Slovakia, has been the subject of a controversy between the president and Senator Spencer, republican, Missouri.

The senator has declared in a political speech that the president had promised Roumania and Serbia that if "any nation ever invaded their territory he would send the American army across the seas to defend heir boundary lines."

Mr. Wilson in a telegram to the senator on October 5, said that this statement was "false." In reply, Senator Spencer called for the official record, saying that the statement to which he had referred was in the "stenographic notes" of the eighth plenary session in which the president was "reported to have said: "You must not forget that it is force that is the final guaranty of the peace of the world. If the world is again troubled the United States will send to this side of the ocean their army and their fleet."

"How can a power like the United States for example and I can speak for no other after signing this treaty, if it contains elements which they do not believe will be permanent, go three thousand miles away across the sea and report to its people that it has made a settlement of the peace of the world? It cannot do so, and yet there underlies all of these transactions the expectation on the part, for example, of Roumania and of Czecho-Slovakia and of Serbia that if any covenant of this settlement is not observed, the United States will send her armies and her navies to see that it is observed."

The official version of the full text of the president's address was furnished to the White House last week by Fred A. Carlson, of Chicago, who was an official stenographer with the American peace delegation, and who wrote that he would "be glad to swear to the accuracy" of the transcript.

Mr. Carlson's letter was dated October six, and was addressed to Charles L. Swem, stenographer to the president. He explained that he had read Senator Spencers reply to the president in the Chicago newspapers; that he had just gone over his notes and that he could find "no such statement" as that attributed to Mr. Wilson by the senator.

He added that it was barely possible that the quotation "was from a translation into English of M. Mantoux's translation into French of the president's remarks and as you know the translations sometimes mixed things up a bit."

"I wish I were in a position to make public what the president said," wrote Mr. Carlson, "for I feel that the president is sadly misquoted, but of course, as the meeting was a secret one, I can say nothing."

Mr. Carlson's letter was made public by Secretary Tumulty with this comment:

"This letter speaks for itself." Senator Spencer in his reply to President Wilson's telegram of October 5, said the statement which he had attributed to the president was made upon the floor of the senate on February 2, 1920 by Senator Reed," and so far as I have learned has never been denied until now."

In his speech of February 28, Senator Reed quoted from a copyrighted syndicated article by Frank H. Simonds, which purported to give the text of the president's address at the eighth plenary session and which Senator Johnson, republican, California, caused to be inserted into the congressional record on December 4, 1919.

Along with Mr. Carlson's transcript, the White House issued in parallel columns "for comparison" the version of the president's speech as given in Mr. Simonds' article as it appears in the congressional record.

"How could the government of the United States go before the congress and the people of the United States and pretend that it had assisted in insuring the peace of the world, if it believed that the settlement agreed upon here contained unstable or dangerous alignments If the world should be troubled again, if the conditions which we all regard as fundamental are challenged, the guaranties which will be given you will pledge that the United States will send its army and fleet across the ocean. Is it surprising, under such conditions that it should desire to reach a solution of the various problems which seem to it satisfactory?"

Wilson Drafted Article X

SEATTLE, Oct. 11.— Former President Taft, when shown the statement made public by Governor Cox at Springfield, Ill., last night, said he recently had given permission for the publication of correspondence between President Wilson and himself during the drafting of the league of nations covenant. He also declared he had repeatedly referred to the fact that the presidnt had consulted with him when the league constitution was being drawn and that there was no element of secrecy about the substance of the communications exchanged.

"When the subject of publishing the correspondence between the president and myself was broachd to me by an emissary of the White House, I promptly said to go ahead," Mr. Taft said.

"I had frequently referred to the correspondence myself and would possibly have published it if it had been my business to do so."

Declaring he had favored acceptance of a league without reservations and expressing disappointment that the Unite States has not became a party to it, Mr. Taft held the president responsible for the defeat of the plan. "The president wrecked his own lague," he said. "He wrecked it with Article X, of which he is the author. Personally, I would stand for Article X because I a mexceedingly anxious for a league to be established. At the same time the league to enforce peace, of which I am chairman, has no Article X in its proposition.

"It had been clearly demonstrated that the representatives of the people of this country will not stand for Article X. The stubborness of the president in refusing to accept endorsement by the senate of the league covenant without Article X defeated the treaty. Now Mr. Cox has swallowed article X and declares that as chief executive he will approve the league without it. That means that with Mr. Cox we shall get no league for even if the democrats elected every senatorial candidate which they have in the field, they would not have enough to carry the league without reservations.

"Harding, on the other hand, has already voted twice for the league with reservations and promises that as President he will endorse the covenant without article X, or a similar international agreement limiting armaments, providing a court of arbitration and a conference for discussion of non-judicial character. That is exactly what we want and that is what Harding as president will give us.

"Ready For Jury"

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., Oct. 11.—The league of nations "case is about ready for the jury," Governor Cox of Ohio, democratic presidential candidate, declared here today in an address launching his Illinois campaign.

Senator Harding, his republican opponent, Governor Cox said, has given what appears to be an "ultimatum" against the league, and the American electorate, the democratic nominee said, has an unequalled opportunity of "making a contribution to the civilized world.

Following up his publication today of correspondence between President Wilson and former president Taft in which the latter appeared as the president's adviser in the league drafting, Governor Cox quoted Mr. Taft to show that the former president has repudiated Senator Harding's plan for a new world association. The governor also reiterated charges that Chairman Hays of the republican national committee was behind a "conspiracy of silence" to stifle the democratic campaign in the republican press and otherwise.

Governor Cox, championing the league gave concisely what he said were the four great causes of war and the four league "curatives."

Certain-teed Roofing is Spark-Proof

Certain-teed will protect your property against fires due to sparks dropping on the roof from passing engines. It also helps to prevent fires spreading from building to building by means of sparks and burning embers.

Where fires have started in other parts of the building, Certain-teed Roofs tend to smother them and thereby prevent serious damage to other property.

This type of protection is appreciated by all property owners and particularly by those who are outside of the zone of adequate fire-fighting apparatus.

But Certain-teed Roofing is more than an aid in the prevention of fire. It also protects from rain or snow and is guaranteed for five, ten or fifteen years, according to weight.

It costs less to buy, less to lay and less to maintain than any other type of good roofing.

See a Certain-teed dealer about roofing. If he can't fill your entire order from stock, he can get what you want quickly from a nearby Certain-teed distributing center.

Love In a Cottage

Art and Economy in Home Building

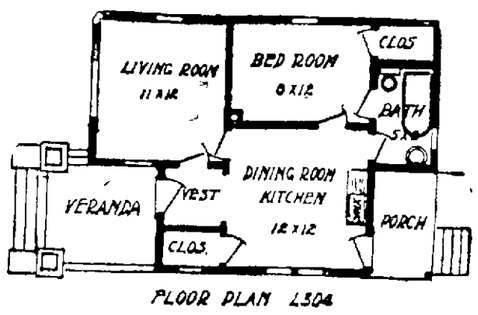

No. 55

Design Submitted by the National Builders' Bureau, for the Chronicle-Telegram

Love in a cottage is far more real than a poet's pretty verses when newlyweds can settle down in a dear little house like this one.

The floor plans show a three-room house, but the photograph shows a five-room house, the exterior of which in every detail, except that of size, is the exterior which is built for the smaller size. The impressive stone piers and the attractive veranda make this little cottage look more costly that it really is.

FLOOR PLAN 1504

It's just the sort of house to move into and "live happily ever after."

AFRAID TO LEAVE HER MOTHER ALONE

Been virtually an invalid for months, suffering from rheumatism, dizzy spells, constipation and stomach disorders. This 81 years old lady is now able to get around the house, feels fine since taking Dreco.

"It is simply marvelous to see how my Mother has improved under the Dreco treatment," said Mrs. May J. Smith of 119 Lord St., Marietta, O.

"She has been almost an invalid for months and I was afraid to leave her alone in the room. Mother is 81 years old and pretty feeble. She has been suffering from rheumatism, backache and a sluggish liver, along with other aches and pains. She would get very dizzy which made everything seem like it was spinning around. Her bowels were badly constipated, and her nerves were weak. She often had pains in her stomach and that full bloated feeling after meals.

"She hadn't been taking Dreco very long until she could tell the difference in her feelings, and now, after using Dreco for some time, it is remarkable to see her getting around the house and wanting to help do things. Her strength has been greatly increased; bowels act regularly and she never has a dizzy spell nor a backache. Dreco is certainly fine medicine."

Dreco has proven a great tonic and strength producer for many people. It purifies the blood, increases the appetite, aids digestion, overcomes constipation and rouses a lazy liver.

All druggists now sell Dreco and it is being especially introduced in Elyria by Ebert's Drug Store.
